

PULLMAN MUST RUN
OR TROOPS LEAVE.*OFFICIAL ORDER ISSUED BY MILITARY AUTHORITIES.

Departments in Operation to-day Have Men Enough, But It Is Thought There Will Be Difficulty in Getting Enough Mechanics for the Whole Plant.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The entire works at Pullman must be started next Monday or the militia will be withdrawn. The order was issued today. The departments that are running today have plenty of men but there is a belief that it will be difficult to man the entire works. The force of soldiers at the stock yards was reduced yesterday when Company D of the Sixth regiment of Cambridge, Company B of the same regiment of Geneseo and Troop B of the cavalry from Bloomington left for home. This has decreased the stock yards military force by 146 men and leaves 287 on the ground. It is probable that further reductions will be made to-day, and that companies of the Second regiment will be recalled not later than Sunday.

The situation in Packingtown is in no wise improved. There is a plethora of unskilled labor, a shortage of butchers, and too few coopers. Although denied by the packers, there was a story about yesterday to the effect that $5 a day was being offered to butchers. Work in the railroad yards is still delayed by new men, though the railroad people claim to be handling more freight each day. There are many blockades and many complaints to the police of crossing blocking. The strikers are yet confident they have the best of the situation.

DEBS TO RULE AGAIN.Calls Another Convention of the American Railway Union.

CHICAGO, July 27.—A delegate convention of the American Railway Union has been called to meet in this city next Thursday, Aug. 2, to consider the strike situation. This action was taken at a meeting of the directors of the union held to-day at the Revere house, at which President Debs, Vice-President Howard, Directors Keliher and Rogers, who were released from jail on bail yesterday, and all the other directors were present. The conference, which was held in the committee room, was presided over by President Debs and lasted from 10 until 12 o'clock. The approaches to the room were well guarded so that no unauthorized person could approach. Vice-President Howard appeared outside several times during the meeting, but all he had to say was that weighty matters were being considered. At 12 o'clock Mr. Debs and his associates appeared on their way to Ullrich's hall, where an American Railway Union meeting was in progress. "A delegate convention has been called for Thursday, Aug. 2," said President Debs to a group of newspapermen. "This convention will be made up of a representative from unions at each point affected by the strike. Delegates will not come from all the unions, but only from the points involved. The representatives at this convention will come with absolute power to act. The unions will hold meetings at the various places and by vote instruct their delegates before they come to Chicago."

May Tie Up Atlantic & Danville.
NORFOLK, Va., July 27.—The Atlantic & Danville railroad company has notified all its employees, including officers, that their salaries will be reduced Aug. 1. The reduction of officers' salaries will average 10 per cent, while that of the engineers and other trainmen will be much greater and will probably cause a strike. The engineers will not work at the reduced rates.

Strike Is On at Denver.
DENVER, Colo., July 27.—At a meeting of local lodge No. 16, American Railway Union, yesterday, 350 members present, it was decided to declare the strike off. COMPROMISE MAY END THE FIGHT Action on the Tariff Bill Is in Sight—Capital Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The country will have a new tariff law in less than a week. Such is the belief to-day. The caucus Wednesday was marked by some pretty plain talk. It was agreed that the bill should go back to conference at once, the republicans permitting, without amendment. No vote was taken on the sugar schedule, but it was generally understood that the differential rate would be eliminated in conference and a flat duty of 35 per cent on raw and refined sugar substituted.

The democrats will not debate the proposition to return the bill to conference. Senators Lindsay and Mills, who intended to talk on the subject, say they will not make any speeches and that the democrats are ready to vote.

The position the republicans will take has not been determined, and the postponement of the consideration of the tariff was for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to decide what they would do. There was a conference of republican leaders before the senate met, but no definite conclusion was reached. The object of the republicans is to find out whether the many changes made in the bill by the senate at the request of the republican senators will be retained when the bill again goes into conference, or whether the concessions the republicans secured will be among the things sacrificed in order to reach an agreement. There is a disposition to force a vote on some of the propositions made by Mr. Quay yesterday, which propositions, if carried, would change the sugar schedule so that it is believed some of the democrats would not vote for the bill. The question whether or not the republicans will debate the bill before sending it back to conference is not determined.

Quite a general canvass of the democratic side of the senate confirms the statement that the democratic senate conferees will return to the conference with the understanding that it is the sense of the caucus that they should stand substantially by the senate bill.

COINING SILVER DOLLARS.The Gold Obligations Reduced to the Extent of the Coinage.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Mr. Preston, director of the mint, is informed that the New Orleans mint, in compliance with the recent order, has already coined 52,000 standard silver dollars. The mintage will continue until further orders.

The treasury has 121,000,000 ounces of silver which cost $124,000,000. All this silver bullion is covered by what are termed "treasury or coin" notes. As such notes they are redeemable in gold, but when the bullion is coined into standard silver dollars and silver certificates are issued against them they cease to be gold obligations and become silver obligations. The amount of coin or treasury notes necessarily retired, therefore, as fast as their basis is coined into standard silver dollars will reduce the gold obligation to the extent of the coinage and relieve the gold reserve from having to support in addition to $346,000,000 greenbacks, $152,000,000 "coin or treasury" notes. It is not probable, however, that more than $2,000,000 of this silver bullion will be coined this year, which will still leave each gold dollar supporting about eight dollars of United States gold bearing obligations, or about 12 cents gold in the treasury for every dollar of gold obligations outstanding.

Allen's Strike Resolution Passed.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—In the senate to-day, on motion of Mr. Humton, a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to transmit a list of claims in the hands of the accounting officers of the government, also all claims passed upon by the court of claims requiring appropriations at this session was adopted; also Mr. Allen's resolution calling on the attorney general for copies of all correspondence with railroad officials in connection with the recent Chicago strike.

WHEN TROOPS MAY BE USEDSignificant Orders Issued by the War Department.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—One result of the extensive use of troops during the recent strike has been the promulgation of a general order from the war department intended to fully inform commanding officers how and when they may use troops. The order is an amendment of an existing order and its significant features are found in the designation of the inter-state commerce act and the acts in aid of the Pacific railroads in addition to the statute prohibiting obstructions of the mails, as acts warranting army officers in using troops.

JAPAN AND CHINA
FORMALLY AT WAR.*DECLARATION HAS BEEN MADE AT LAST.

Possession of Corea Will Be the Objective Point, But Other Matters Are to Be Settled—News of the Beginning of Hostilities Confirmed in London.

SHANGHAI, July 27.—The statement that war has been declared between China and Japan is accepted here. A telegram was received yesterday evening from a high authority at Tientsin, reporting that the prospects for the continuation of peace were more favorable. To-day, however, news was received that war between China and Japan had been declared. There have also been rumors that several Chinese war ships are in trouble.

The information received here is meager, and the exact status of affairs in Corea can not be learned. Telegraphic communication with Corea is interrupted.

LONDON, July 27.—The Central News has this dispatch from Shanghai: "War has been declared between Japan and China. The Japanese have seized the king of Corea and hold him prisoner. Eleven Chinese steamers are on their way to Corea. Most of the troops aboard them are coolies armed with bows and arrows. Some Chinese steamers which have arrived at Corea have been prevented by the Japanese from landing troops. It is reported that the Japanese artillery sank several of them."

Agricultural Iowa is in a deplorable condition. BEATRICE, Neb., July 27.—A burning wind which blew a gale from the south caused a vast amount of damage to corn.

Corn Ruined in Kansas.

BUSINESS HOUSES BURN.Wausau and Rhinelander Send Aid to Antigo, Wis.

ANTIGO, Wis., July 27.—Over a dozen business houses in the center of the town were burned yesterday. Cleveland and Crisp Confer.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Speaker Crisp was at the white house yesterday and his visit with the president caused a renewal of the comment as to the interest of the administration in supporting the tariff position of the house. Mr. Crisp declined to say anything concerning the conference. Representative Holman, the chairman of the house democratic caucus, says that the democrats will probably caucus on the tariff bill when it is returned from the next conference. He does not think agreement will be reached by the conferees without instructions, and anticipates that another report of a disagreement will be returned to both houses. In that event, he says, a caucus of the house democrats will be called to decide upon instructions to be given house conferees.

Emery; railroad commissioner, D. J. McKenzie; insurance commissioner, W. A. Fricke; chairman state central committee, H. C. Thom.

SENATOR VILAS TALKS.The President's Cause Defended by the Wisconsin Senator.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—In the senate yesterday at 2 o'clock Mr. Jones called up the conference report on the tariff bill. Mr. Vilas was immediately recognized, but yielded to Mr. Quay, who withdrew the sugar amendments he offered just before adjournment Wednesday.

Mr. Vilas reviewed at length the President's position in favor of free raw material, his letter of 1887, and other public utterances up to his message to congress at the opening of the present session. Constantly, Mr. Vilas declared, Mr. Cleveland had insisted upon this principle. It was everywhere proclaimed by his supporters to be the first step in the enfranchisement of labor from the thralldom of unjust taxation. Could it be possible, he asked, that any one supposed he had abandoned the principle that lay at the base of any scheme of tariff reform?

Mr. Vilas then quoted and ranged alongside of Mr. Cleveland's utterance the statement of Mr. Gorman that the senate bill could not pass if it did not have the hearty support of Mr. Cleveland. He said: "At the time when the President was writing his letter to Mr. Wilson the senator from Maryland and his coadjutors were appealing to Mr. Cleveland to induce him to support them in an effort to qualify the enactment of democratic principles instead of crystallizing them into law. How utterly wanton is this cry of interference now because he has seen fit to throw the weight of his influence with the house in favor of democratic principles; because he refused to stand with them they make his action a ground of complaint here, and in horror cry out against executive interference."

Extracts from the letter to Mr. Wilson were read, to show that the President's purpose was not to traduce the senate but to plainly state his aspirations toward tariff reform. The President had stated that the abandonment of that great party principle would be perfidy and dishonor, and the senator agreed with him.

Mr. Stewart (pop. Nev.) began a speech on the respective prerogatives of congress and the executive. He declared that the conditions were such that a member of congress must obey the President or leave Congress. The power and influence of the executive was such that it could control the election or defeat of a member.

When Mr. Stewart concluded the president pro tem announced the question to be on Mr. Hill's resolution that the senate recede from its amendments making coal and iron ore dutiable at 40 cents a ton. Mr. Hill demanded a division of the question, so that the vote was first taken on iron ore, which was lost—6 to 63. That portion of the resolution receding from the amendment on coal was defeated—6 to 64.

Mr. Washburn (rep. Minn.) then submitted a motion to instruct the senate conferees to recede from that portion of the sugar schedule placing the one-eighth of a cent differential on sugars above 16 Dutch standard. Mr. Gray (dem. Del.) made the point of order against the motion that it was not competent for the senate to instruct its conferees in a "full and free" conference to insist upon or recede from any particular amendment. To do so would be to prevent the free and untrammelled consideration of amendments in conference. An attempt was made to prevent debate upon the point of order, as it could proceed only by unanimous consent. Without discussing the point of order the senate at 4 p. m. adjourned.

Gen. Augustus J. Pleasanton Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 27.—Gen. Augustus J. Pleasanton "Blue Glass" Pleasanton, died last night. He was a brother of Gen. Alfred Pleasanton, the famous soldier.

WANT THE CHURCHES ALL MADE OVER.

TENT EVANGELISTS ARRAIGN BOWER CITY PASTORS.

Very Little Is Said About Devil Hunting as a Summer Industry, However, and the Crowd Goes Away Rather Disappointed—Persecutions by "Those High in Authority."

After sewing up the local papers and casting them into the sea of oblivion the tent evangelists now tackle Janesville churches. Elder Welch remarked last evening that he had been requested by one high in authority "not to preach and pray so loud."

"I want it distinctly understood," said he, "that I shall continue to preach and pray as loud as my lungs will permit, and I pray to God to give me more lung power. I wish I could be heard all along Milwaukee street. I wish I could pray loud enough so that Uncle Graham at the upper end of Milton avenue might hear me as he reposes in his carnal ease, and the judge close by him might hear also."

There was not a large crowd at the meeting last night, and those present inside the canvas did not show much enthusiasm. Mr. Devilly addressed the meeting, giving a scripture lesson, reading disconnected sentences from Luke vi. and making random comments. He objected strenuously to the local churches, the burden of his remarks being, that there was not a minister in any church in this city who dared to preach or teach sanctification, while the church goers were "poor miserable hypocrites."

Evangelist Welch followed, and was very bitter in his denunciation of the city churches and their practices. He wished it understood that by churches he meant all denominations, they were all alike, and he had just as soon slap a Methodist in the face as any other. Mr. Devilly had remarked in his random talk that those girls and boys standing around the tent talking and laughing were not the children of Methodist parents, but it was easy to assign them to a denomination. Rev. Welch insisted that Methodist children nowadays were just as bad as any other children. Church members, not only in Janesville but in other cities, tolerated and abetted, often engaged in crime and the church tolerated it. There were sixty saloons in Janesville besides the gambling houses. Church members signed the bonds for saloon men; church members rented their stores for saloons, and church members rented their stores for gambling dens. He knew a lady who was a prominent member of a Chicago church, who owned and rented several houses for sporting purposes. And yet she was a good member of her church.

"I am acquainted with another case in Michigan," said he. "There were two men and their wives, all belonging to the same church. The men separated from their wives for a time, each supporting the other's wife. Finally both were divorced and then each married the other's wife. Such things are tolerated in your churches. Things are quite as bad right here, and your pastors dare not preach 'sanctification,' but on the other hand they tolerate gambling in the church. I am informed that every saloon keeper in Janesville is a church member."

Rev. Welch had little to say about devils, newspapers and kindred abominations last night, and the congregation went away rather disappointed.

A Weird Revenge.
He, haughty—I believe I am distinctly eligible and your parents approve. Indeed, were I not a gentleman I should say that they seemed quite anxious. She—Yes, but I cannot alter my decision. I want to get even with papa and mamma for not buying me a box of candy yesterday.—Truth.

Auntie's Inconvenient Claim.

A feature of an entertainment at a colored Baptist church at Steubenville, Pa., was the mock marriage of "Aunt" Edie Jacobs, aged 80, and William Dade, aged 65, and now "Aunt" Edie claims William is her lawful husband.

LEPER FEARED BY TOWN FOLK.

John Moe Says He Doesn't Want To Die For Some Time.

John Moe, the leper, who left Dane county not long ago is on a farm in Houlton, St. Croix county. Intelligent people are not afraid of him, but ignorant ones, and especially those who have read about leprosy in the Bible, are very much alarmed. Carlson, who made a home for Moe and who lives near the Norwegian church and has for a long time been its janitor, is not even allowed to attend now. Moe's body is as clean as any man's. The disease shows in his face, hands and a little on his ankles. He has no "boles in his hands and arms" and never will have. Chinese leprosy in extreme cases take that course, but the disease in Norway never.

He is an intelligent man, having not only his senses but his sensibilities. He does not suffer pain, and is just as capable of enjoying life as any man. He knows very well what is the matter with him and what the end will be. "I want to live a while longer," he says, "and I want to be treated like a human being. I am not ready to end my life yet, have money enough to pay my way for a good while and ask nothing but a place where I can be let alone."

The Blackhammer leper died a month ago. By concealing his features a little he could have gone to Chicago without attracting attention if a railroad engineer, who happened to know about his coming down from Houlton, had not told the story. Furthermore his disease would no more have harmed his fellow passengers than if it had been a boil. Any doctor capable of expressing an opinion will say that.

BRONCHO BUCKED AND HURT HIM.

Chester Rook's Collar Bone Broken by His Twenty Foot Flight.

Chester Rook is nursing a broken collar bone, the result of his experience in riding a broncho. The young man lives on Western avenue in the Fifth ward. He was swimming the ponies in the river. He had worked one of them in harness considerably. After giving the ponies their swim in the river he thought he would ride his favorite back to the barn. A companion held the pony while he undertook to mount.

"I caught one hand in the pony's mane, and jumped, throwing myself upon his back," said he in telling of the break. "The boy let go before I righted up, and the pony started on a run. He jumped and when he came down his heels flew up, and his head went down. Such bucking you never saw. The second buck the pony made he threw me about twenty feet over his head and I struck on my shoulders. I did not know my collar bone was broken until I got to the barn. I was in considerable pain, and putting my left hand up I felt the bone sticking up about two inches. Those ponies are tricky things."

CLEAR LAKE CHAT AND COMMENT.

Party at DeLeon's a Success—Many Campers on the Shores.

CLEAR LAKE, July 27.—Mrs. H. L. Rose is able to be about the house again. The party at the Clear Lake Inn was a success. There was an entertainment before the party, a musical and a sleight-of-hand performance. Manager Denison will give dancing parties every Wednesday evening, preceded by an enjoyable entertainment. Everyone is invited to attend. The entertainment is free. Dr. Arthur Coon, of Austin, Minnesota, called on A. L. Rose Thursday, being a cousin of Mrs. Rose. The lake is surrounded by campers from home and abroad. Rain is needed badly again in this vicinity. Warren Thorpe is quite ill again.

MYRIADS OF POISONED HAIRS.

What Causes the Sting in the Hand That Lightly Touches a Nettle.

The leaf and stem of a nettle are literally clothed with erect hollow hairs. If one of these hairs is viewed under a microscope, says Good Words, it will be seen that its free end, after tapering to a very fine degree of slowness, finishes as a little knob, while in the other direction, after gradually becoming more robust, it suddenly expands into a large bulb corresponding with the poison gland of the adder. The point of hair is very brittle and contact with our skin causes the end to snap off, leaving the hollow needle point which readily pierces our cuticle, and pressing upon the bulb at the other end the poison is forced through the central channel and inflames our blood. The tender handed who stroke the nettle are stung for their pains, because their gentleness has only served to break the brittle points and render them fit for piercing, but the rough handed break the hairs at their thickest parts, where they are too stout to prick. Our common nettles, though they are capable of inflicting considerable annoyance upon many persons, are too insignificant, nevertheless, to be included among vegetable monsters, and we have only referred to them for the sake of making clear the enormities of some big cousins—giants of the nettle family. These are, first, the Urtica stimulans and Urtica crenulata, of the East Indies, species whose attack upon one's hand is sufficient to cause the arm to swell with a most frightful pain, which lasts for weeks. But even these are milk-and-water nettles by comparison with the Urtica urentissima, which grows in Timor, where it bears the significant title of Daou setan, or devil's leaf. The effects of its sting last for a year and have often produced death.

COWS GOING BLIND ON CENTER FARMS.

STRANGE DISEASE AFFECTS CATTLE THIS SUMMER.

Frequently Results in Loss of Sight—Hot Weather Stops Work on a Milton Junction Church—Meetings of Much Interest in Lima—South Clinton Pioneer Passes Away.

CENTER, July 27.—A new disease has broken out among the cattle here, several herds being afflicted. The animals seem to go blind. Cows belonging to Seth Fisher, Mr. Dean and Mr. Nightengale are affected, Mr. Dean having nine animals in one herd that have the disease. These animals are being treated by Dr. Bedford. "The disease presents a new form in the growth of fungus in the eye," said Dr. Bedford in describing the disease to a reporter. "It affects the pupil of the eye, and if neglected results in total blindness. The disease is epizootic in nature, and is easily remedied. The appearance of the disease has caused quite an excitement among Center cattle raisers. While the reporter was interviewing Dr. Bedford, a farmer called for information regarding the disease, his herd being also affected. "The disease is not a new one," said the doctor. "It may be new in Rock county, but it is well known to cattle raisers in older countries. There need be no alarm, as it is easily mastered. Local news is scarce during the hot weather. Miss Daniels of Palmyra, has been visiting Mr. Whitman's people lately. Harvesting is now a thing of the part and the crops were better than expected. Mr. and Mrs. Hutton, of Janesville, were at William Dean's Sunday. Mrs. Margaret Snyder, of Footville, was the guest of Mrs. Goodacre, recently. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder rejoice over the arrival of a baby boy and J. T. smiles blandly as the neighbors hail him as grandpa. The hum of the threshing machine will be here next week. The bicycle craze has struck Center, and everyone who is up to date is now riding a wheel; and among others may be mentioned Mattie Snyder, who rides with much ease and grace. Felix Holt is visiting Wright Bros.

FUNNY MEN CATCH POINTED DIALOGUES.

Must Be Early in the Morning, the Humpbacked Man Thought—Some Things Better Left Unsaid—The Pen Mightier Than the Sword, This Farmer Believed.

"It cannot be—I am not worthy of you."
"Nonsense."
"It is true, too true."
"Impossible. You are an angel."
"No, no, you are wrong. I am an idiot, a silly girl, utterly unfit to become your companion through life."

"This is madness. What sort of a wife do you think I ought to have?"
"A careful, calculating, practical woman who can live on your small salary."—Answers.

Somewhat Personal.

A humpback met a malicious one-eyed neighbor.

"Ah," said the latter, "you have your load on your back early this morning."
"Yes," responded the humpback, looking intently at the one-eyed man, "it must be rather early. I see you have only got one blind open."—Alex Sweet, in Texas Sittings.

"Oh! You are leaving us early, Mr. Brown."

"Yes, Mrs. Park, and I am very sorry that I must leave, but not expecting to have such a pleasant time this evening. I had made another engagement."—Harper's Bazar.

Exemplifying a Proverb.

"Did you ever go to war, boss?" inquired a tramp of a farmer.

"No, sir; I have enough to do looking after my hogs."

"Thank heaven!" fervently ejaculated the tramp.

"What for?" asked the astonished granger.

"Because I have at last met the man who really believes that the pen is mightier than the sword."—Alex Sweet, in Texas Sittings.

A Question.

Fannie T. Phayre—I have just received a letter from Mr. Stocksanbonds asking me to be his wife, and I am uncertain just how to answer it.

Mrs. Phayre (astounded)—Uncertain!

Why, Ethel, just think of his wealth!

Fannie T. Phayre—Yes; I'm uncertain as to whether I should telegraph my acceptance, or mail it with a special delivery stamp.—Puck.

Hard on the Flowers.

Little Bertha came home from school the other day in a state of great excitement. Rushing in upon her mother, she exclaimed: "Oh, mamma; guess what we're going to do!"

"Nothing very dreadful, I hope, my dear."

"Why, our class is studying botany, and we're going to tantalize the flowers next week."—Judge.

He Meant Business.

Fond Mamma (oracularly)—Every given name has some particular meaning, or ought to have. Charles signifies kindly; Harry, the noble; Frank—let's see—what does Frank mean?

Lovely Daughter (starting out of a reverie)—Er—Frank? O, he means business; he told me so last night.—Buffalo Courier.

A Kissable Compliment.

Jack—I am coming to the conclusion that I must be something of an idiot.

May—Dear me! Why?

Jack—I have noticed that the most idiotic fellows woo and win the loveliest girls and here I am after winning the loveliest girl in the world.

May—O, Jack! (Ecstatic silence.)—Truth.

BROWN GOT THE MONUMENT.

And as He Had Been a Good Fellow,
the Boys Said He Deserved It.

At a little settlement on the Indian river, before the railroad was built, lived a penniless, good-hearted fellow of the name of John Brown. When Brown got any money he would divide it to the last cent with his friends among the boys, and of course the boys liked him. One day the boys found Brown dead in the woods. They dug him a grave, rolled him in a horse blanket and let him down in it and then drank several bottles of East coast bitters to his health and expressed the hope that whatever new climate he was in would be healthy.

Some time later than that a stranger came among them. He died and, as the weather was too warm to ship his body off, he was buried next to Brown. A week or two passed and the relatives of the stranger sent down money to erect a monument over the grave of the stranger.

The boys took the thing in hand and discussed it pro and con. They came to the conclusion that Brown was a "durned" sight better fellow in every way than the stranger and more entitled to a monument, so one night they went out and swapped the men from one grave to the other. As a result Brown, the ne'er-do-well Bohemian and all-around good fellow, sleeps beneath a handsome marble monument and the rich stranger lies in an unmarked grave.

OLD GENTLEMAN'S MISTAKE.

He Fitted the Pretty Girl and She Laughed Up Her Sleeve.

She was only a typewriter girl, but she created quite an excitement in a suburban car in Louisville. When she got on the car the conductor noticed that her left sleeve dangled helplessly by her side, so he helped her on tenderly, and said to himself "Poor thing!" The passengers also observed the empty sleeve, and were visibly sympathetic, one tart-looking woman even moving a trifle to give the one-armed girl a seat. It was a very singular thing to see such a well dressed, bright girl with only one arm, and public curiosity was at a high pitch concerning the cause of the pathetic empty sleeve. Finally the afflicted maiden dropped her purse, and the old gentleman who restored it said kindly: "My dear, how did you lose your arm?"

She turned her innocent violet eyes upon him in evident surprise and the passengers all presented their ears, aching to listen. "I haven't lost any of my arms," she replied, thrusting a neatly gloved hand in sight. "I just pulled my hand up into my sleeve to get it warm."

Then all the passengers looked huffy and the conductor murmured: "Gee whiz! With them big sleeves the women can work 'most any kind o' racket."

This May Account for Many Things.

Physicians are sometimes slightly put to their wits to find a suitable excuse for neglecting an office patient when wishing to devote a few minutes to something else, but a Philadelphia specialist quite distinguished himself in this line with one of his lady patients, the other day. He was about to treat her foot with electricity, and she had just removed her stocking in preparation, when the mail arrived. Desirous of reading one of the letters immediately, this diplomat gracefully secured time by saying, in his most professional tones: "Just expose your foot to the atmosphere for a little while."

In Jest or Earnest?

Sergeant Kelly, a celebrity of the Irish bar, had a remarkable habit of drawing conclusions directly at variance with his premises, and was consequently nicknamed "Counsellor Therefore." In court, on one occasion, he thus addressed the jury: "The case is so clear, gentlemen, that you cannot possibly misunderstand it, and I should pay your understandings a very poor compliment if I dwell upon it for another minute, therefore, I shall at once proceed to explain it to you as minutely as possible."

Ostrich Eggs.

In olden times ostrich eggs were suspended in churches, the superstition being "that the ostrich, being a forgetful bird, leaveth her eggs in the dust, and at length, when she beholdeth a certain star, returneth unto them, and cheereth them by her presence." * * * Therefore be the aforesaid eggs suspended in churches, this signifying that man easily forgetteth God, unless being illuminated by a star, that is, by the influence of the Holy Spirit, he is reminded to return to him by good works."

What Is There for Women to Do?

The champion girl of the period lives near Tacoma, Wash. From April 1 to June 1 this year she planted three acres of potatoes, did all the cooking and sewing for the family, milked the cows, fed the calves, pigs, and chickens, shot three chicken hawks and a wildcat, set the dog on eighteen tramps, attended thirteen dances and three picnics, read five dime novels, and set up five nights in the week with her beau, and yet we often hear the question asked: "What is there for women to do?"

Mighty Is the Truth.

And it will prevail! Against undisciplined competition and spurious imitation, the genuine efficacy of the great national tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, always has and always will prevail. The public recognize it everywhere as the chief preventive of malaria, and a reliable specific for dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness, rheumatism, kidney trouble, biliousness and loss of appetite. Efforts made by irresponsible dealers to compete with it by inferior means have and will continue to fail upon the heads, and it may be added, the pockets of those making them. Through the length and breadth of the American continent it is the acknowledged household remedy, reliable and prompt. It relies upon facts, upon public experience, and upon the emphatic commendation of the medical fraternity.

HARPER'S HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Harper's Pictorial History is universally recognized as the best history of the war yet published. This superb work has never been sold for less than $16 to $30. It has been sold only by subscription and but a very few men have been able to buy it.

The pages are the same size as Harper's Weekly and the work contains all the illustrations appearing in that great paper during the war. The work was edited by Richard Grant White and Henry M. Alden and is authentic, complete and reliable.

We have made arrangements whereby we can furnish Gazette subscribers with this splendid history of twenty-six parts at ten cents a part. These twenty-six parts will contain over one thousand war pictures and will make two handsome volumes when bound.

Many official documents of priceless historic value are quoted in full in the copious foot notes, such for instance as Lincoln's inauguration speeches, articles of federation of the early states, constitution of the United States, ordinance of secession, and many important papers, speeches, etc. The war story is consecutive and very fascinating. The introductory chapters, leading up to the struggle, and the chapter on the reconstruction period, are by some of the first writers of the age.

Photographs of "Lip-Speech."

What is regarded as the greatest triumph of the photographer was the recent successful experiment by Professor Dumeny of Berlin in taking photographs of "lip-speech." By making successive negatives of the movements of the lips of a rapid talker he managed to arrange photographs printed from them in such a manner that deaf mutes who were familiar with "lip-speech" could plainly interpret every word that the speaker had uttered.

Coxey is not feeding the tramps he has already induced to go to Washington, and the only object he can have in trying to get all the tramps in the country to go there is to make trouble. He doubtless hopes that if a very large crowd of tramps assemble there that starvation will drive them into committing riotous excesses which would lead to their being shot down by United States troops. This man Coxey is a more dangerous anarchist than Johann Most, who has "done time" for incendiary speeches.

Somebody around the treasury department must have blundered when a formal application was made to congress to pass a bill giving the secretary of the treasury authority to do certain things, as the policy of the administration has been to dictate to congress, instead of getting authority therefrom.

Mr. Cleveland is about to learn the difference between having the people with him and having them against him. In his stand for law and order the people were with him and success was easy; in his "break" for free trade the people are against him.

If, as the adage says, "an idle brain is the devil's workshop," the devil must have an overstock of workshops in the misnamed "industrial" armies now in the vicinity of Washington.

The silver men have called a national conference to meet in Washington August 16. Mr. Cleveland will probably not send a letter to the conference.

Some men never know when their little games are blocked. Coxey and Debs are recent specimens of this class.

Wonder what the late Jay Gould would have thought of an impetuous prince for a son-in-law?

Paul would have been a more appropriate name for him than Grover; he writes so many epistles.

Revenue From the Town Clock.

The late Henry Jackson Ruthrauff, of Warrensburg, Pa., in 1881 built the town clock over his store on Holden street and for the last thirteen years has wound it as regularly as the time came round, and drew from the city an annuity of $300 for the use of the same. The clock is still owned by the estate.

A Little Too Neat.

"I don't mind a woman being neat," said old Mrs. Jason, "but one woman I used to know was just a little too neat for any use. Why, that there woman used to take a couple of goldfish she had out of their tank every Saturday night and give em' a bath."—Indianapolis Journal.

SINKING OUT OF SIGHT.

The Missouri River Likely to Disappear Within Half a Century.

The recent survey of the Missouri river under the direction of the United States geographical engineering department resulted in the discovery that the stream is undergoing a peculiar transformation. During the survey measurements were made of the volume of water passing between the banks at various points from Great Falls, Montana, to Sioux City, says the Journal, of the latter place. It was found that the volume at Great Falls measured 4,796 cubic feet per second, while at Fort Benton, twenty-five miles further down the river, the volume was but 4,331 cubic feet, a decrease of 465 cubic feet. Owing to the large number of tributaries emptying into the river between Fort Benton and Sioux City a gradual increase in the volume of water is noted, until at the latter point, where a final measurement was taken, a flow of 14,776 cubic feet per second was reached. In the opinion of some of the engineers engaged in the survey the decrease in the volume between Great Falls and Fort Benton explains the presence of that great subterranean body of water known as the South Dakota artesian basin. The discrepancy can only be accounted for by the presence of an outlet in the bed of the river somewhere between the points mentioned.

Directly below the upper cataract on the south bend of the river, about half way between the towns, is a large pool, in which, if the frequent visitors to the place can be believed, are to be found the eyeless fish of the species said to inhabit subterranean water courses. In all probability the outlet, if one exists, is located at this point, the alleged presence of these fish tending to corroborate the theory. From here, if this surmise is correct, it would appear that an underground channel running in a southeasterly direction carries the water into a basin underlying a large area of South Dakota, thus forming a large subterranean lake, which has recently been tapped by the numerous artesian wells. Another queer discovery is noted in the survey just completed. In 1878 observations were taken in a similar manner, and, unless errors in calculation have been made, there has been a decrease of fully 20 per cent in the volume of water in the river. If no error has been made and the decrease continues, before fifty years have passed the once majestic Missouri will have dwindled into an insignificant rivulet.

A SMART OCULIST.

He Acts as Scientific Detective and Exposes an Attempted Fraud.

Here is an interesting account of a very clever bit of detective work by an oculist. It appears that in a large factory, in which were employed several hundred persons, one of the workmen, in wielding his hammer, carelessly allowed it to slip from his hand. It flew half way across the room and struck a fellow-workman in the left eye. The man averred that his sight was blinded by the blow, although a careful examination failed to reveal any injury there being not a scratch visible. He brought a suit in the courts for compensation for the loss of half of his eyesight, and refused all offers of compromise.

Under the law the owner of the factory was responsible for any injury resulting from an accident of this kind, and although he believed that the man was shamming and that the whole case was an attempt at swindling, he had about made up his mind that he would be compelled to pay the claim. The day of the trial arrived, and in an open court an eminent oculist retained for the defense examined the alleged injured member and gave it as his opinion that it was as good as the right eye. Upon the plaintiff's loud protest of his inability to see with his left eye, the oculist proved him a perjurer and satisfied the court and jury of the falsity of his claim.

And how do you suppose he did it? Why, simply by knowing that the colors green and red combined make black. He procured a black card on which a few words were written with green ink. Then the plaintiff was ordered to put on a pair of spectacles with two different glasses, the one for the right eye being red and the one for the left eye consisting of ordinary glass. Then the card was handed him and he was ordered to read the writing on it. This he did without hesitation and the cheat was at once exposed. The sound right eye, fitted with the red glass, was unable to distinguish the green writing on the black surface of the card, while the left eye, which he pretended was sightless, was the one with which the reading had to be done.

A Tax on the Dowry.

Too many Englishmen marry American brides for their money—so declares a portion of the American press, enumerating their countrywomen who have bestowed themselves and their fortunes on British aristocrats. Over £10,000,000 sterling in cash have lately found their way to England in this fashion. The remedy suggested is to levy a tax of fifty per cent on the dowry of an American girl marrying any foreign nobleman and seventy-five per cent if the bridegroom is an Englishman.

RIDING TO NEW YORK ON A PONY'S BACK

H. E. McNEILL ON HIS WAY
OVERLAND.

Expects to Go About Fifteen Miles a Day and to Make the Journey Easily, Although He Has Never Ridden Until a Few Weeks Ago—Brief Local Notes.

"BACKING" a broncho from Stoughton to New York is the way Henry Everett McNeill will spend his summer vacation. He came through Janesville today. "I will keep on south until I get below the lakes, then I will swing around and go due east. If I have time I will go by way of Niagara Falls. My trip pays for itself as I am writing a series of letters for the American Press association." McNeill's mount was a sturdy bay pony that looked fit for any amount of work. McNeill himself has never ridden a horse until this month. He expects to go about fifteen miles a day and carries nothing except a change of clothing, a rubber coat and an umbrella. If he succeeds in this trip he intends to make a tour of the United States in similar fashion.

"Does the oldest inhabitant recollect," says an exchange, "a June without the honey dews when the leaves almost dripped my drops every morning, and the grass held its moisture until noon in shady places. The June just passed had no such dew bespangled mornings. July has had none; the clouds drift high and not a rift of fog nor a hint of dampness refreshes the dusty night."

ALDERMAN F. S. WINSLOW received a dispatch from Chicago this morning announcing the death of his sister, Mrs. Welthy Byer. Mr. Winslow immediately telegraphed his brother in St. Paul, and expects to meet him here to-morrow morning, en route to Chicago to attend the funeral.

THERE will be an impromptu dance, given by the Light Infantry at the armory tonight. The New York quartette under the direction of Prof. Augustus Tapetina, who have been delighting Janesville people this week, have been engaged. Prof. John Smith will do the prompting.

RICHARD McNEIL entertained a number of his friends at his home 251 South Third street last evening. Refreshments were served and a good time was enjoyed by all. Richard leaves tomorrow for Long Pine, Brown Co., Nebraska. He will be missed by all of his friends.

WE have about sixty pair of men's fine shoes in the Michigan stock, that Mr. Codman sold for $1.50 a pair. We put them in this sale at 95 cents. We guarantee them equal to any $1.50 shoe in the city. You can easily figure what you are saving. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

THREE lines of boys' long pant suits which are slightly damaged, we want to get out of our stock. The price will be $2, $3 and $4. They are suits which sold at $7.50, $10 and $15. If your boy needs a good school suit for fall and winter, come in and see these numbers. T. J. Ziegler.

CHILDREN'S shoes till you can't rest. Our Michigan stock was loaded with this class of goods. Great place for youngsters. We want to close them out before the fall trade begins, and will cut the regular price regardless of cost or value. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

SUPERINTENDENT CHARLES STOLLER is bound to hold up the attendance at Court Street Sunday School during the hot weather. He has offered to give an ice cream picnic for all the pupils who are not absent during Rev. W. P. Requa's six weeks' vacation.

CALIFORNIA fruits of all kinds are commencing to arrive, now in pretty good shape. For a while it was impossible to get it on account of the strike, but now Samuel Goldfarb, the fruiterer, at 6 South Main street, has plenty.

THE ladies of St. John's Lutheran church will give an ice cream social on the church lawn Saturday evening of this week. Ice cream and cake, coffee and sandwiches will be served. The public is cordially invited.

Two dollars buys a good wool cassimere suit at Ziegler's for boys from fifteen to nineteen years. This is a suit slightly damaged and is actually worth $7.50.

THAT Michigan stock of shoes bought by Brown Bros. & Lincoln is proving to be a perfect bonanza. The stock had been in existence less than two years and the goods are brand new. They secured this wonderful bargain at fifty-five cents on the dollar. You can easily figure out how desperately low the price was. A shoe the Michigan man paid $2 for, cost Brown Bros. & Lincoln only $1.10. They could easily sell them to you for $1.50 making a good profit and you would be buying them less than the cost to manufacture.

BURT TUCKER, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tucker, 177 Terrace street, celebrated his seventeenth birthday last evening in a very happy manner. The home and yard were beautifully illuminated with Japanese lanterns. The evening was pleasantly spent in social games and the young host received a number of handsome presents, the presentation remarks being made by Fred Warren of Chicago.

C. W. JACKMAN of the Janesville Carriage Works, hands out cigars to-day when he informs friends that he came to Janesville forty-one years ago today. Clerk W. F. Williams of the municipal court took advantage of the occasion and sent Mr. Jackman his compliments in the shape of a handsome silver headed cane.

THEY will go fast, those pretty colored umbrellas that A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers," have marked so low. Get them early if you want one.

THAT California fruit which Samuel Goldfarb, the fruiterer at 6 South Main street, receives fresh every morning, looks very tempting. All kinds there.

A SON has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Page. A dispatch from Minnesota to Mrs. Page's mother, Mrs. Mark Ripley, announced the news yesterday.

VIRGINIUS GOT ONE; ROCKER ANOTHER.

TWO FAST RACES DECIDED
THIS P. M.

Janesville's Track Record Lowered Twice Within 24 Hours by the Same Horse—It Will Be Late this Evening Before the Fun Ends.

Janesville's track record was broken yesterday and again today by Rocker. Today George Castle's Hambletonian Wilkes pacer beat Dr. J. out in 2:12. Yesterday he won a heat in the same class in 2:12. The record before had been two seconds slower. Blonde a chestnut Brunswick Chief pacer made the circuit once in 2:14. Rocker took the lead to the quarter with Kissel's Dallas second, Two Strike third. Charley Ford was crawling up from fourth place while Free Coinage had a good lead over Dr. J. Charley Ford's ambition fell at the three-fourth's pole where he broke and was passed by Dr. J. who had lost a good deal of ground by a bad break. Rocker held his position and Kissel's Dallas kept away from Two Strike. Dr. J. recovered and from a place that looked as if it would end behind the flag, Dr. J. rushed to fourth place, passing Free Coinage and Charley. In the second heat Rocker took his lead again but Dr. J. caught him at the quarter with Kissel's Dallas and Two Strike ahead of the populist animal and Charley Ford. The latter was in danger of the flag but showed his years of work by a rush that brought him inside. Dr. J.'s break set him back and Fullager began his drive with Two Strikes. The last eighth was the brushing ground between the grey and Rocker but the latter went up one hundred and fifty yards from the wire and Two Strikes was on a pull in 2:14. The second heat would have been faster than the first had there been someone to force Two Strikes out for the time to the three-fourth pole was a second faster with the finish yet to be made.

All Expected Dr. J. to Win.

These two heats had added confidence in all the animals and made the backers more confident. Dr. J., many insisted, could make them go every heat better than 2:12 to beat him and his splendid recovery when a brush had set him away back had made his friends more confident. It was said last night that he could and would win it, a proposition upon which his backers would "go broke" today.

Kissel's Dallas, it was said could turn the Janesville track three times in 2:11 or better and the fact that his record, (2:10) was the best in the bunch added credence to the story. He won a good second in the first heat and only a break put him fourth in the second. His good gait and lack of "clothing" were factors too, and the friends of the Indianapolis man and his good Indian Chief horse did not give up the ship or part with a single handspike.

Two Strike had sold favorite yesterday, and the handy way in which he responded when Fullager called on him in the second heat brush made the talent's idea of their own judgment stronger. He was still favorite last night at ten dollars over Rocker at five dollars and the field at four dollars.

Campbell's good mile and skillful finishes, both in the June meetings and this week made Free Coinage's backers feel that the race was not done until the money was divided and as the horse with the populist name was apparently in good shape they did not lose confidence in him, even if his name did carry with it the "hoodoo" of being a favorite scheme of "Bloody Bridge" Waite.

Charley Ford No Spring Chicken.

Then Charley Ford was liable, many insisted, to come to the front. It was not his first race by a good deal and the handy way he closed up the space when the flag was liable to fall before him in the second heat added strength to the predictions of his admirers.

"You can't always tell about those old campaigners," was the way one of them put it and the tone of voice used backed up the faltering backers of the Dexter Prince gelding. That is the way it stood when they came this afternoon.

Two Strikes went for the heat from the word but at the quarter Rocker was on his wheel with Dr. J. in a good position to lap them both. At the half the Doctor caught them and they went into the stretch abreast. Then Two Strikes left his feet and Rocker finished half a length ahead of Dr. J. in 2:12. This was the fastest heat during the meeting and again lowered the track record. The next heat finished the race. Summary.

2:20 Race Was a Hot One.

Virginus was naturally the horse that Janesville people wanted to win the 2:20 race. He is by Phallamont, H. D. McKinney's horse and had frequently raced here. When he won the first heat from Prince many thought the Texas horse was the winner, but the camera said Virginus had it by an inch or two. The next heat the Phallamont went without a show and Mary, with Fullager in the bike only beat him by a narrow margin. Last night they said the race lay between Virginus, Prince and Warrant and things stood that way when they got the word this afternoon.

Virginus got the first heat after forcing Warrant to a break on the stretch, Mary, who was the second last night having worked up from last place where she fell on a break to second. The second heat Virginus won naudily out brushing Prince.

Father and Mother Come Before Judge Phelps To Urge Judicial Clemency. —Lightest Punishment Possible is Six Months in the County Jail—J. J. Kelly Is Set Free.

There was an affecting scene in the municipal court this morning, made so by the presence of a father and a mother pleading that mercy be shown their son. Tears were brought to the eyes of many spectators when Judge Phelps announced that the lightest sentence he could impose would be six months in jail. The case was that of two boys from Beloit, Walter Garhaut and Ray Mosher, charged with the larceny of a Columbia bicycle. The boys pleaded guilty. Garhaut is an orphan. Mosher's parents reside in Delavan, and their boy was defended by P. B. Barnes, who presented a number of letters certifying to the boys good character, and made an affecting plea for mercy. Both boys were given six months in jail, the lightest sentence the court could pronounce.

J. J. Kelly of Beloit, who was held by a Beloit justice for trial in the municipal court on charge of obtaining money from Adam Holt under false pretenses was discharged this morning. When the case was called Kelly presented a number of warehouse receipts, which had been in the possession of his wife, the receipts being the property alluded to by him when he obtained credit.

streets. The design selected is by Henry J. Ellicott of Washington and represents General Hancock as he appeared at the battle of Gettysburg. The statue will be about half again as large as life. The figure of General Hancock, if erect, would be about 9 feet in height, and the horse will measure about 9 feet in length through the body. The height of the pedestal will be 18 feet. It will be of granite, admirably proportioned, with rich carving on each side.

General Coxe's Wife and Baby.

told her of his purpose to march to Washington she laughed at the idea, but when she saw he was really in earnest she acquiesced in the plan and now expresses enthusiastic confidence in his scheme for good roads and lots of money. Mrs. Coxe is a tall brunette, quiet and sensible, who is more interested in housewifely arts than in the mysteries of political economy. Just now she is engrossed in the care of a pudgy baby boy about 3 months old who rejoices in the name of Legal Tender.

He Leads the Miners.

President John McBride of the United Mine Workers of America, at whose order 200,000 coal miners recently quit work on one accord, is the executive head of one of the most powerful labor unions in the United States. He began to work in the Ohio coal mines when he was only 9 years of age and at 16 was admitted to membership in the Miners' union. He had been a member of the union for 13 years when, in 1883, he was unanimously elected its president, which position he filled for four successive years. Mr. McBride takes an active interest in Ohio politics. He represented Stark county in the legislature in 1883 and 1885. Governor Campbell appointed him state commissioner of labor, and in 1886 he was the Democratic candidate for secretary of state. He is a native of Ohio and was born in Wayne county July 25, 1854.

Senator Stockbridge's Successor.

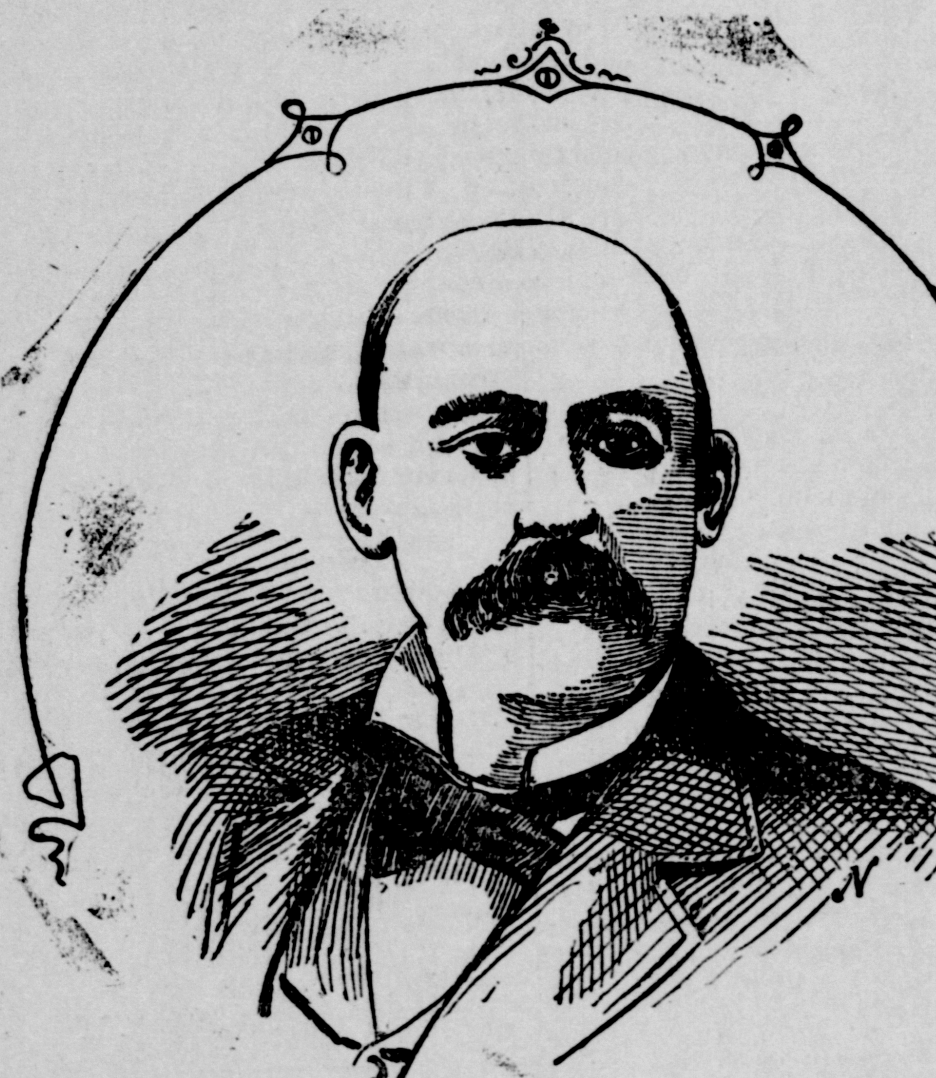

John Patton, Jr., of Grand Rapids, who succeeds the late Francis B. Stockbridge as United States senator from Michigan, is a native of Pennsylvania and was born at Cowansville Oct. 30, 1850. Senator Patton has been a resident of Grand Rapids since 1878, and though a member of the legal profession in active practice, acquired a large fortune in lumber dealing. Mr. Patton was for two years president of the Michigan State Republican league. He is widely known as an eloquent and forceful speaker. Senator Patton is a Yale college and Columbia law school man. Some years ago he married the daughter of the late Wilder D. Foster, a member of congress from Michigan in 1873, and two children have been born to them.

"GEN." KELLY, Commander of the California Coxe Contingent.

GOVERNOR L. D. LEAWELLING, of Kansas.

Recently specially prominent before the public because of his contest with Mrs. Lease in his efforts to remove her from the Board of Charity of his state. Mrs. L's denial of the governor's authority to discharge her from the office was sustained by the judicial authorities. Governor Leawelling was born in Iowa in 1816, and was prominent for many years as a political editor and publisher. Removed to Wichita, Kan., in 1887; elected governor in 1892 as a Populist.

"Are you married?" asked the justice of a man who had been arrested for forgery.

"No, I am not married, but my wife is."

"No trifling with the court." "Heaven save us! I'm not trifling with the court. I was married but got a divorce. My wife got married again but I didn't; so I am not married but my wife is."—Alex Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

Puck.

A Good Wing Shot.

A school mistress in Australia sued three young men for breach of promise. Counsel for one of them moved for a nonsuit on the ground that she was too much engaged. The court seemed disposed to grant the motion, whereupon the plaintiff asked:

"Judge, did you ever go duck-shooting?"

The judge (with the pride of a sportsman)—"Well, I should say so! Many's the time I brought down half a dozen at a shot."

"I know it!" eagerly exclaimed the fair plaintiff. "That's just the case with me, judge. A flock of these fellows besieged me and I winged three of them."

The motion for a nonsuit was refused.—Chicago News.

Poor Thing.

"You look sad, Birdie—what's the matter?" were the words addressed to Birdie Henipin by her friend, Mollie Squeers, as they met on the street.

"I'm not feeling well."

"Are you sick?"

"No I'm not precisely sick; but I feel tired, overworked."

"Do tell me all about it."

"Well, you see our colored cook is sick, and now poor mother has to do all the cooking, scrubbing, and washing and ironing, and it makes me feel so tired to see the old creature work—she is so slow."—Alex Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

From Bonbons to Alimony.

At four she wanted bonbons;
At eight she wanted gum;
At twelve she yearned for novelettes,
At sixteen, leaux—yum, yum;
At eighteen she became engaged,
Like many other misses,
And wanted spoonery to-a-totes
And scores and scores of kisses;
At twenty she was married—
Big wedding, rich and tosy,
At twenty-two, alas! alone!
She wanted alimony.

In Dog Days.

"I wish it could be managed," said the man who had been thinking deeply. "It would be a magnificently humane enterprise."

"What do you mean?" asked his wife.

"I was just thinking that it would be a great thing if the explorers in polar regions would send down a relief expedition for the benefit of us people here."—Washington Star.

DYSPEPSIA AND GENERAL DEBILITY.

Rev. A. H. Mevs, of Friar's Point, Coahoma Co., Mississippi, writes: "Having suffered for a number of years with dyspepsia, torpid liver and general debility, and having tried several physicians with little or no benefit, I resolved, as a last resort, to consult your specialists at the World's Dispensary. Being advised by them to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I did so, and after using several bottles, I feel entirely restored to health. Now in recommending your medicines to suffering humanity everywhere."

India Twills.

'Twill pay you, if you are a woman and want to invest your money in some kind of a colored cotton dress fabric that will be very serviceable and wash well, in something for a wrapper, perhaps, that you know at a glance is worth more money, to see our INDIA TWILLS. We have had these goods before, but then we were selling them readily at 15c a yard; but a break in the market afforded us the opportunity to buy more of them, in other pretty styles, at a much lower figure, so that now we can sell them at 10c a yard. They are 33 inches wide, have a twilled surface and light, fleecy back; while not too heavy, they are weighty enough to hang nicely and not muss easily. We extend a cordial invitation to all strangers or newcomers to our city (townspeople know they are always welcome) to come in and look through the store and see what we carry, and get posted generally. We are aware that during the warm summer months most everyone is not in need of much in dry goods, having supplied themselves before the Fourth, but you will want more some time, and we are only too glad to put our time against yours and show our goods; it makes the days go faster and may result to our mutual advantage.

THE FADDIST.

Women Who Know a Little of Everything and Much of Nothing.

The word "fad" has somewhat altered in its signification of late years. Formerly it was used to express some special taste or bent of the mind, permanent and characteristic. Now it means only a transitory following of some scientific, social or other will-o'-the-wisp, the pursuit being taken up from a mere desire for new things and dropped for the same reason. A hobby, provided it is a fairly rational one, is an excellent possession and carries the owner over many a dull reach in life's journey, but a succession of fads, however amusing they may be for the moment, are so superficial that they are of no real advantage to the one who indulges in them and any rather nonplusing, if the word may be used, to her friends. You meet a young woman whom you think you know very well, and she tells you in a weighty manner that she has been attending a series of medical and anatomical lectures and has concluded to become a physician. Seeing her again some time after, you inquire how she is progressing in her medical studies, and she looks blankly at you and tells you in a surprised tone that she is working at art and thinks of studying abroad next year. Later on you observe her in the preliminary stages of journalism, socialism, literature, slumming, housekeeping on the scientific plan, astronomy, kindergartening, needlework and any other professions that happen to be going. At one time she divests her apartment of everything except the sternest necessities because biology has bid her beware of microbes.

A sketch is given of a princess gown of changeable taffeta, suede and blue. It is trimmed with brettles and straps of suede satin fastened with steel buckles.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SHOPPING COSTUMES.

Plain Attire Often Receives the Contempt of Silly Clerks.

It has been often said that a woman should wear her plainest and least pretentious clothing when she goes shopping. Certainly natural sense and good taste would indicate such attire as the most appropriate and therefore the best, but practical experience leads one to believe that her best bib and tucker are the only wear for the woman who goes forth purchasing and to purchase. Plainly and quietly dressed, she is an object of contempt to the salespeople. As a rule, she has a difficulty in finding anybody to wait upon her, and when found the sales person assumes an overbearing, even belligerent, air and takes no pains to supply the wants of the modestly attired customer. Sales men and women are alike prone to slight the plainly dressed woman and favor the one who wears silk and diamonds. This condition of things may seem a trifle to a man, who, not having experienced it himself, does not know all the small practical annoyances it implies. Almost every woman fully appreciates the spirit that prevails behind the counters of the majority of shops, however, and is beginning to think that the indulgence of good taste at the cost of time, patience, vexation of mind and liability to impertinence is too expensive a luxury. She reluctantly puts on her frills and furbelows when she goes on a shopping expedition in order to secure the ordinary politeness and professional attention of the persons whose business it is to show goods and to whose courtesy all customers are entitled, whether they wear calico or velvet.

If there is any woman whose experience has been so limited that she has not already proved the truth of these statements, let her go shopping one day in a plain, inconspicuous gown, and again the next day in one of ostentatiously fashionable cut, color and trimming, and she will ascertain at once whether good taste always pays in anything except a certain placidity of mind. It is satisfactory intellectually to follow one's natural promptings in regard to the abstract fitness of things, but the practical result of such a course is sometimes failure.

The costume illustrated is of nickel gray moire. It has a plain skirt and a round bodice, the latter being covered with jetted tulle, which is gathered under a jet yoke. The black satin belt has long floating ends at the left side. The moire sleeves have a puff from shoulder to elbow and thence are plain to the wrist.

LAST OF POWHATAN'S MEN.

A Remnant Still Exists in the Pamunkey Indians of Virginia.

The Pamunkey Indians, whose distinction it is to be the only Virginia tribe that has survived the encroachment of civilization, have excited the interest of the bureau of ethnology, which has issued a bulletin describing them. This fragment of an Indian nation, which in early colonial days, occupied a great deal of territory in the vicinity of Washington, now consists of about 100 individuals. They dwell on a curiously shaped neck of land in King William county, Virginia. The place is almost entirely surrounded by water, and to this fact is doubtless due the continued residence of the Indians; very likely their survival is due to the protection thus given. For a century, says the Washington Star, their number has continued to be about the same. Jefferson, writing in 1781, estimated the population of Indian town at 100, and Howe, nearly seventy years later, placed it at the same figure. No member of the tribe is of full blood. While the copper-colored skin and the straight, coarse hair of the aboriginal American show decidedly in some individuals, there are others whose origin would not be detected by the ordinary observer. There has been considerable intermixture of white blood and not a little of that of the negro, though the laws of the tribe now strictly forbid marriage with persons of African descent.

The Pamunkys have a great deal of race pride. Though they acknowledge the whites as equals, they consider the blacks as far beneath their social level. Their feeling toward the negro is illustrated by their recent indignant refusal to accept a colored teacher, who was sent to them to conduct the free school which the state of Virginia provides for them. They are very anxious to keep their blood free from further mingling with that of other races, and how to accomplish this purpose is a serious problem of theirs, inasmuch as they recognize the danger of too frequent marriage within the pale of consanguinity. The Pamunkys Indians are not particularly strong and robust, perhaps because of frequent marriages between relatives. They are temperate, moral and peaceable. There is good feeling between them and their white neighbors. They are exceedingly proud of their lineage and love to tell of their brave and stubbornly their forefathers resisted the encroachments of the whites. They obtain their living for the most part in true aboriginal style. Their chief occupations are hunting and fishing, primitive dug-out canoes being used. Farming they do on a small scale, but for manual labor they entertain a truly aboriginal dislike, frequently hiring negroes to attend to their little truck patches.

Saddest of Burials.

"I have witnessed a good many burials at sea," said Captain G. L. Varner, of the British navy, "and it is always a sad sight, but I think the time I was impressed more with the solemnity of the occasion was a few years ago, when we buried one of our officers who had died of yellow fever. Our ship was lying off the coast of South America, and a number of the officers and crew were stricken with this dread disease. Lieutenant W. B. Green, a brave, handsome young fellow, was taken with the fever in its most violent form. He felt that he was going to die, and one afternoon called me to him and asked me to please bury him on land, if possible, as he dreaded to be cast into the ocean. That night the poor fellow died. In the middle of the night his body was placed in one of the boats, and I, together with four of the sailors, set out for shore, about two miles distant. Arriving on the beach, the diggers went silently to work and soon had a grave scooped out in the sand, into which the body, wrapped in the British flag was reverently lowered. There was not a dry eye among the men as they proceeded to fill up the grave, and, after I had murmured a short prayer, we returned to the boat and silently pulled back to the ship.

Those Coupons.

The newspaper coupon business grows, and is spreading to include about everything which mankind needs, so that it does not require a very flighty imagination to conceive of a time when one may live well, dress well, enjoy all of the comforts and recreations of life, pay doctor's bills and finally arrange with the undertaker with no more trouble than is required to clip a coupon and pass it over to the cashier in the newspaper counting-room. A New England journal offers the Keeley cure, or something equivalent to it, to its patrons, absolutely free, on presentation of five coupons.

Great Art Catalogues.

The work of preparing catalogues for the great sales of art objects held now and then in Europe and America is a matter of great expense and much time. Such an illustrated catalogue is now being prepared in this country. One of the most skillful of artist engravers has been engaged off and on for several years in preparing illustrations, and by the time letter press and illustrations are all ready the catalogue will have become an expensive volume.

He Could Throw Some.

"Several years ago," remarked Oliver L. Westbrook of New Haven, Conn., "I knew a man who lived on the outskirts of my town who could throw a stone with more accuracy of aim than is displayed by most sportsmen with a rifle. The man was a perfect giant physically. He was a good deal of a hunter, and used stones as his only weapon to bring down the game. He had a large leather pouch attached to one side of his coat, in which he always carried a good supply of carefully selected missiles. With these he bagged every year no small quantity of game, such as quail, rabbits, and squirrels. He could kill a bird on the wing or a rabbit at full speed almost as easily as at rest. One of his favorite methods for displaying his skill was to set up a cytho-blade with the edge toward him at a distance of about 100 feet, and by throwing potatoes against the edge cut them in half. He could almost exactly halve two out of every three potatoes he threw."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

COLD IN THE HEAD relieved instantly by one application of Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. PATRICK CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. I have cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good effects speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick usually, it being held 18 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

Japanese Minister Recalled

WASHINGTON, July 27. — Gozo Tateno, the Japanese minister to the United States, has been recalled. The recall, it is stated, is due not to anything connected with the present Japanese-Chinese-Corean difficulty, but owing to matters growing out of recent treaty negotiations. Senator Gresham and the Chinese minister have been much together of late. This, it is said, has given offense to Japan. It was rumored that Mr. Gresham had asked Japan, through Mr. Tateno, to go slow in the Corean matter.

OMAHA, July 27. — The national executive board of the Knights of Labor spent to-day going over the reports of state organizers. The majority of the organizers, it is reported, have recommended the formation of new assemblies in preference to attempting to revivify the old ones.

A CUTE LOVER.

He Won the Girl With a Single Well-Timed Remark.

He had nursed the hope tenderly that some day he might win her, says the Detroit Free Press, but in these later days hope had almost retired from active life.

True, she still permitted his attentions, but there was that in her manner, which told him far more plainly than words that he was losing his grip at the rate of thirty-seven miles a minute.

If, indeed he ever had a grip. On this point even he had doubts at times.

Yet in it all there were often gleams of sunshine through the rifts in the clouds, and he depended on them to revivify the fading buds of his hope.

He knew that nobody knows what a woman will do when nobody is expecting it. She doesn't even know herself. So it was that one day his utter devotion to her asserted itself and he asked her to be his wife.

"Henry," she answered in a calm, sisterly manner, "I scarcely expected this at this time. I thought you would understand without my speaking. Now I see I must be very plain—"

"Don't say that," he interrupted earnestly and lovingly; "don't say that, dearest. You cannot be very plain—you are too beautiful. Say it some other way, dearest."

Her face filled with astonishment, which faded away as a dissolving view, and in its stead came that look which makes a lover swear he's looking into an angel's face come down from heaven to greet him with a smile.

Surely a Mistake.

Poor Mike was very ill—almost as ill as he was short, and what that meant those who knew him can best say, for physically he was hardly more than a dwarf.

The doctor was called in and after investigation, informed Mrs. Mike that her husband was suffering from actinomycosis, a name which appeared to strike terror to the soul of the anxious woman.

"Act phwat?" she said.

"Actinomycosis," replied the doctor.

"Him?" cried Mrs. Mike. "Ah, docthor, how can yez say that? A little man loike Moikel couldn't hould the name of ut, much less th' disaze that goes wit ut!"—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine.
